A Per-Child Bounty System

The layered contract system hiding ICE's Task Force 287(g) incentive structure.

Public | Posted on ice.gov

Layer 1 – Memorandum of Agreement

Format: 'Boilerplate' 14-page template document (PDF)

Execution: Downloaded @ ICE.gov; agency name + contact info entered; signed copy emailed to ICE ERO.

Financial incentives mentioned? Briefly.

UAC Safety Verification Initiative mentioned? No.

Not Published | Obtained through public records battles

Layer 2 – Service Agreement

Format: Intergovernmental service contract naming the participating agency as a "service provider" for DHS/ICE.

Execution: Signed by agency official, apparently sent via e-signature by ICE.

Financial incentives mentioned? Yes. Salary + overtime rates, invoice process, and payment schedule are outlined.

UAC Safety Verification Initiative mentioned? Yes. UAC is a defined contract term, and scope of work is outlined.

Note: The first service agreement was published by Rachel Spacek @ InvestigateWest (for the Owyhee County Sheriff's Office in Idaho) in April 2026.

'Law Enforcement Sensitive' | Obtained through public records battles

Layer 3 – UAC Safety Verification Incentives

Format: Contract rider that contains specific UAC work expectations, including a detailed breakdown of bounty-style rewards package.

Execution: No action specified. According to the Layer 2 Service Agreement, this document + a separate UAC Statement of Objectives are incorporated "once participation is verified."

> "Safety Verification" Incentives - Up to $20,000 per case
> Safety verification incentives reward the 287(g) partner for more comprehensive safety and welfare verification activities which protect children and communities as described in the table below.

Note: This UAC Incentives attachment was first published by Jules Feeney @ Chattanooga Times Free Press in July 2026.
